

The StreamLogic Code of Ethics

- We will conduct all business activities with integrity and avoid conduct that is deceptive or misleading.
- We will respect confidential information entrusted to us by our clients, employees and partners.
- We will accept engagements only after we fully understand our clients' goals and how they define success.
- We will only accept engagements for which we are qualified by our experience and competence.
- We will not accept engagements that are in violation of the law or that might be used by our clients to violate the law.
- We will charge fees and expenses that are reasonable, legitimate, and commensurate with the services we deliver.
- We will disclose to our clients in advance any fees or commissions that we will receive for equipment, supplies, or services we recommend to our clients.
- We will uphold this Code of Ethics, and directly address any violations.
